Disclosures Required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(1)(A)(ii)

FICO may use the following categories of documents, electronically stored information, and tangible things that it or its attorneys have in their possession, custody, or control to support its claims or defenses.

1. The Software License and Maintenance Agreement and the two amendments thereto (collectively, the "Agreement") entered into by FICO and Chubb & Son, a division of Federal.
2. Documents sufficient to show FICO's ownership of its federal copyrights in multiple versions of its FICO® Blaze Advisor® business rules management software.
3. Documents sufficient to show Federal's change in control as a result of the January 15, 2016 merger, including documents sufficient to show the corporate structure of The Chubb Corporation and its subsidiaries prior to the merger, and documents sufficient to show the corporate structure of Chubb Ltd. and its subsidiaries following the merger.

4. Communications between the parties regarding Federal's breach of the Agreement following the merger and FICO's termination of the Agreement.
5. Documents related to Federal's disclosure of the FICO Blaze Advisor® software to third parties.
6. Documents related to the use of the FICO Blaze Advisor® software by third parties.
7. Documents sufficient to show Chubb & Son's continued use of the FICO Blaze Advisor® software following the termination of the Agreement.
8. Documents sufficient to show FICO's damages, including its loss of licensing revenues resulting from Federal's breach of the Agreement.

Disclosures Required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(1)(A)(iii)

FICO is still computing its damages and will not be able to complete its computation until it acquires complete information from Federal and it analyzes all available information relevant to damages. At a minimum, FICO seeks to recover its actual damages resulting from Federal's breach of the Agreement, in an amount to be determined at trial, but in excess of $75,000, exclusive of costs and interest. FICO also seeks to recover damages under 17 U.S.C. § 504 of either its actual damages and all profits derived by Federal as a result of its copyright infringement, or statutory damages, at its election. FICO also seeks to recover its costs and reasonable attorneys' fees under 17 U.S.C. § 505.

Disclosures Required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(1)(A)(iv)
